

Meet Tamara, Master Communicator and Speaker

I'm Tamara Wrenn Executive Director and Founder of Just Us Women Productions. A master communicator and speaker with administrative and leadership experience in maternal child health, women's fitness and wellness, childbirth, and more

My speaking topics and moderator services skillfully weave my diverse professional background into content which inspires audiences to:

- pursue a healthy lifestyle
- take charge and own their health and wellness, and
- lead in their sphere of influence.

I deliver my talks as a keynote, training, or program to help your audience rise to their full potential.

Just Us Women Productions works with women who are ready to live with vitality providing them with solutions that deliver informational support, education, and encouragement so that they can gain and sustain optimal health and wellness. We serve all women with a special focus on reaching women of color in an effort to reduce health inequities and disparities throughout the lifespan. My services are nourishing to the whole-woman by applying a holistic approach with a spiritual foundation. I show people how to dig deeper, embrace their spirituality, and address the whole-self for greater success - while making every step feel like they are never alone. I help them set goals, take action, and make informed choices for optimal wellbeing.

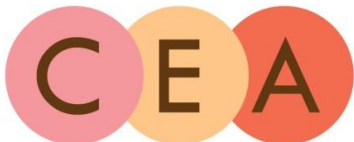

I earned my Masters Degree in Guidance and Counseling from New York University and my continuing education includes staying abreast of trends in public and perinatal health, women's wellness and natural remedies. To add some balance to my life I lead Zumba® Fitness and SharQui® Bellydance workout classes where I dance like nobody's watching. I've had the pleasure to work with national organizations providing technical assistance and training on subjects that include the long-term impact of improving women's wellness through the lifespan, putting the theory of the Life Course Model into practice, and applying the model as an intervention to reduce racial and ethnic disparities in infant and maternal mortality.
